

BERRY CAMPBELL

There was none of that macho bullshit. When I came to New York I was horrified at how the female artists were being disregarded. I think it was different in San Francisco because there were no commercially viable galleries....It gave us permission to be more experimental.

Sonia Gechtoff